

Face ID Terms & Conditions

Face ID allows you to use facial recognition to login securely instead of entering your username and password. Your username and password will not be stored on this device. By enabling Face ID, every person with enrolled facial recognition on this device will have access to your WESTconsin account. We suggest reviewing the enrolled facial recognitions to make sure that each person is authorized to access the personal and financial information available in this app. Face ID information is only stored on your device and WESTconsin's app does not see or store your Face ID information during the authentication process. You are responsible for safeguarding your mobile device. The use of Face ID signifies you acknowledge these terms have been accepted by one or more of the persons who established the subject account with us. You are responsible for all transfers and/or transactions performed with Face ID and agree not to hold WESTconsin liable for any errors. If you are not comfortable with these terms we suggest you not enable Face ID and resort to using your username and password to gain access to your account through this mobile device.
