Tax Season is Here

Contribution Limits

If you are contributing to your Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or Health Savings Account (HSA) and wish it to count toward your 2022 tax-year contributions, please be sure to tell our staff at the time of deposit. We must specifically code these contributions to be included in your 2022 totals. Online banking transfers into HSAs will be coded as a current calendar year contribution, so if you wish to contribute more towards the 2022 tax-year, call our Service Center at (800) 924-0022 or stop at your local office!

2022 Contribution Limits:

- N IRAs—$6,000 aggregate between all Traditional and Roth Contributions; $1,000 catch-up if age 50 or better
- N HSAs—Self-only coverage $3,650; Family coverage (yourself and at least one additional person) $7,300; $1,000 catch-up if age 55 or better

2023 Contribution Limits:

- N IRAs—$6,500 aggregate between all Traditional and Roth Contributions; $1,000 catch-up if age 50 or better
- N HSAs—Self-only coverage $3,850; Family coverage (yourself and at least one additional person) $7,750; $1,000 catch-up if age 55 or better

IRAs and the IRS

Federal Withholding for IRA Distributions

The IRS has released Form W-4R, Withholding Certificate for Nonperiodic Payments and Eligible Rollover Distributions and revised Form W-4P Withholding Certificate for Pension or Annuity Payments. As a result, individuals will have a new process for calculating and electing federal income tax withholding on retirement distributions. An important change is the ability for individuals to elect a withholding rate of less than 10 percent on nonperiodic distributions. Current withholding elections will be applied to future distributions unless a new election is made. WESTconsin Credit Union encourages members to seek competent tax advice to understand their unique situation to help determine withholding elections on retirement distributions.

Know Your Numbers

Filing for your tax refund or setting up a new direct deposit or electronic payment?

Make sure there are no delays in getting money into or out of your WESTconsin account electronically.

For Checking

Use your 10-digit checking account number for electronic transactions.

- N Don't know your 10-digits? You can find at the bottom of your checks

Don't have checks? You can access your account number online or with a direct deposit checking form.

- N Login to WESTconsin Online or the Mobile App
 1. Select your checking account
 2. Select Account Details (Online) or Show Details (App)
 3. Your 10-digit ACH number will show in ACH Number field
- N Print a Direct Deposit Checking Form for an employer or tax preparer using this form. Your information will print with WESTconsin letterhead saving you a trip to the office or call to our Service Center. Find this form on WESTconsin Online, then choose Additional Services
- N Stop by your local office or give us a call at (800) 924-0022

For Savings

Use your member account number for electronic transactions.

If your account number is incorrect or doesn't match the account type (checking or savings), your direct deposit may be rejected, causing a delay in the amount of time it takes for you to receive your funds. If your tax refund deposit is returned due to an incorrect account number, the IRS will issue you a check instead. In the case of an electronic withdrawal, if the account number is incorrect the transaction will be returned unpaid. This could cause your payment to be late and possible late fees may be charged.

Please help us help you by taking a few minutes to confirm you are using the correct account number for electronic transactions, especially for your tax refund—it will be worth it!

Required Minimum Distributions for Traditional IRAs

IRS regulations state that a person who has reached age 72 within the year must begin taking distributions from their Traditional IRAs. We will be sending a notice to those affected members shortly that will share the amount that must be removed for 2023. Our Member Services Representatives follow up on this notice to help set up automatic distributions and answer any questions.
